Hoggetown Medieval Faire Demo

On 2-9/11-96 The Barony of An Crosaire participated in the Annual Hoggetown Medieval Faire sponsored by the City of Gainesville. The Barony presented a living history display with artisans demonstrating their crafts, a static museum style display, heavy weapons lyst/melee, and musical entertainment and dancing. This was the 10th anniversary of the Hoggetown Medieval Faire and the Barony's association with the City of Gainesville in this endeavor. The Autocrat was Baroness Ceridwen o Cahercommaun. Talewinds, February, AS XXX, 1996

Demo

Four classes of 3rd & 4th graders at Littlewood Elementary School saw a demonstration of textiles, music, geography, weapons and hedgehogs presented by Maebdh ni Siobhan, Emer ni Maebdh, Browyn, Kathleen Allen and Selina Ryals. There were approximately 80 to 120 children present. The Barony has received thank you notes from many of the children.

Featuring Triskele-Trimaris' own gambling game. Donations of baked goods, coin of the realm & participants are needed for the Baronial Birthday Cake Walk for the land fund. The prelude to Royal and Baronial Courts shall be a game of Sweets for the Sweet, a travel fundraiser. Autocrat H.L. Takara, Feastcrat Contessa Carmenetta Rosia Diez y Rodrigues & Lord

Schrymagore Talewinds, October A.S. XXXI

(Natasha reports) the event had just enough people attending to make a nice event. Saturday morning there were three fighters for the heavy weapons list, Bernard, ?, ?. Our autocrat decided to make the lyst more interesting by having the fighters play hopscotch, in full armor, to warm them up. Two valiant fighters started at each end of the hopscotch to finally meet in the middle. When the first two got to the middle, they looked at each other, then at the autocrat with a "what do we do now" look, then looked at their weapons and started hitting each other. To our amazement, it worked! The next match was mounted combat. Each fighter was given a hobbyhorse to ride. The Marshal and the Herald were also mounted. Several members of the audience were given pom poms and encouraged to cheer for the fighter of their choice. The resulting fights were hilarious, with Bernard overcoming his opponents, astride his battle cat, yowling his famous battle cry "Merrow".

Then it was time to torment the light weapons fighters. They had to fight holding a "partner" in one arm. For safety reasons stuffed dummies were made. There were two luscious wenches, a blond and brunette, and two brawny males, a red haired Scotsman and a dark haired generic male (both anatomically correct). Our lady fighters, Isaboe and Victoria were shameless, flaunting their "male" companions, i.e. holding them upside down, to distract their opponents. In the mean time, a number of bare chested wrestlers cavorted at the far end of the field. Two of our lady visitors decided the men were having too much fun and asked if they could participate. Since they were not allowed to remove their upper garments they did strip off their lower. The shirts were long enough to cover almost to their knees; however they took unfair advantage by wearing lace panties. They thrashed Inigo by ganging up on him.

The Archers also had plenty of things to shoot at. Lord Baectaon and Lord Donnal had a multitude of small game targets beside the standard targets. During the day there were other activities for the less martially inclined? There were board games, chess, pente, etc available in the hall. For the younger members and the young at heart there was a scavenger hunt and, of course, Rat Pucky.

For the Baronial Birthday Party there were many birthday cakes to be won at the Cake Walk Fundraiser. There was a red velvet cake decorated as Hedgehog (which I was fortunate to win), two dragons, many plates of cupcakes, and more designer cakes, which I cannot remember at this time. After the cakewalk everyone stuffed themselves with cake.

Feast was incredible. There was so much food no one could eat all the removes. There was shrimp cocktail, grilled chicken breast and grilled shrimp, lemon rice, burgundy cherry soup, crab cakes, whole crabs, stuffed rolled pork, seafood piallea, roast beef, and flan. Being at North Florida, all the food had to be brought from the kitchen to the big hall. It was during one of the trips that someone noticed that a campfire seemed to be a little large. Then we realized that a tent was burning. It seems that a Tiki Torch fell over onto the tent and set it on fire. The servers streamed out of the hall with big pots of water and all the ice we had and put out the fire. Unfortunately, everything in the tent was destroyed but no one was hurt. The owners of the tent and equipment we helped out by the Barony and other guests with finances to see them safely home.

Martinmas/Crown Lyst

On 11-1/3-96 The Canton of Mathom Trove is proud to sponsor Martinmas Moot at Wewa. There will be Arts and Sciences display, so all interested artisans please contact the autocrat for more information. Talewinds, September XXXI, 1996

Talewinds, January AS XXXI From the Royal Fundraiser Coordinator
Unto the gentle populace of the fair Kingdom of Trimaris doth Duena Ysabela Celestina Manrique de Palma y Majorca Fund-raising Coordinator for Trimarian Royal Travel Fund, send her fond greetings. Gentle cousins, I greet you well, and recommend myself unto you all. As in past years, the Crown of Trimaris will be leading a great force of fighters and artisans to Meridies to take part in Gulf Wars. Since such an expedition can be quite costly, Their Royal Majesties have charged the Canton of Mathom Trove with the responsibility of raising monies for the Royal Travel Fund.

At Martinmas Moot, a "Gift Basket" silent auction and an "Illuminated Manuscript" silent auction were held and the monies raised amounted to $427.00. In combination with those funds raised at Michaelmas and Baronial Bash, the Crown now has $838.00 for their preparations for Gulf Wars. We would like to thank all those talented artisans who have given so freely of their time and effort for the fundraisers at Moot, including: Countess Carmenette, Baron Damian von Blauwold, Baron Iefan, Mistress Eglantine, Mistress Elfwyn de Barfleur, HL Bernard de Barfleur, HL Gianetta de Remigio Welsler, HL Cara de Boccaccio, HL Teamhair Gleann de Locha, Lord Sebastian Halyburton, Lady Katheryn of Tewkesbury, Lady Isabehlina Medeiros de Ben Dubh, Lady Gwynedd, Lady Thirza, Robert du Puc and Wesley Scott. We would also like to thank all those gentle lords and ladies who opened their purses and contributed so generously.

The following activities have been scheduled for the months ahead:

Winter Art/Sci will have "de Botelesford Jewelry" Silent Auction. Baroness Laura de Botelesford has generously agreed to place up for auction a collection of her beautiful, handmade jewelry.

Scots/Welsh War & Twelfth Night, The Leek and Thistle Gaming Hall. Competition doesn't have to end on the battlefield. Come spend an evening of camaraderie and fun at the Leek & Thistle G"coins" and try your luck at our games of skill and chance. The winner of every game receives a chance on a fantastic prize. The more you play the better chance you have of winning, drawing for prize to be held at midnight.

Cutlasses & Corsairs, Rapier Prize Tourney, Bid on your favorite light weapons fighter for the opportunity to choose from a wonderful array of prizes donated by the accomplished artisans of Trimaris

Trident Tourney, a White Rhino Silent Auction, Part Deux. Thanks to the generosity of the populace back in October we had more items for our first White Rhino Silent Auction at Baronial Bash than we had table space on which to display them. Therefore, with the kind permission of the Barony of Darkwater, we will hold the White Rhino Silent Auction Part Deux. Donations of any unwanted Yuletide gifts are gladly accepted.
